

LUCY REDZEPOSKI

Director of Economic Growth & Tourism
Rockland County

Lucy Redzeposki has extensive experience in both for-profit and not-for-profit organizations in the areas of finance, operations, human resources, commercial lending, business development and strategic management. She began her career on Wall Street working for a major bank and served as the CFO and Director of Human Resources for a manufacturing company.

Ms. Redzeposki is currently employed as the Director of Economic Growth & Tourism for Rockland County. In this capacity she serves as the Director for Economic Development and Tourism. She implements the County's economic development program to promote, attract, retain and expand businesses, preserving and increasing the property tax base and employment opportunities. As the Director of Tourism, she utilizes tourism as a tool for economic development, job creation and business development by promoting the County and its facilities/events as a destination for tourists. She developed and implemented the County's filming program.

Ms. Redzeposki operates a private consulting firm providing grant writing and business management services throughout NYS.

She has over 25 years of teaching experience as an Adjunct Professor having taught at Mercy College, Rockland Community College, SUNY Cobleskill, Pace University and Westchester College.

Ms. Redzeposki received a Bachelor of Science from Fordham University in Management and Computer Science and an MBA in Strategic Management from Pace University.